Congratulations to Caroline Moser and Emily Rowe! Their work has been selected to be part of the Young Voice Exhibition 2010.

This year over 300 entries from 7 states, India and Mexico were judged by members of the Ecological Research and Development Group's Board of Directors for inclusion in our student art exhibition.

Please join us for the premier of this exhibition at the Collingswood Galleries of Perkins Center for the Arts on June 12th, with an Opening Reception from 10am until noon.

The student artwork will then travel to other venues including the Annapolis Maritime Museum in Maryland, the Smyrna Opera House in Delaware and the Cape May Nature Center in New Jersey.

All the selected art works will be posted on ERDG's award winning website, www.horseshoecrab.org by summer. FSMH's second grade "Horseshoe Crab" art work can also be seen at www.artsonia.com.

Last year's student artist from Friends School were Shelby Whetstone and Julia Kropiewnicki.
