

The Friends Fine and Performing Community Arts School

T. Fran Kesselman

T. Fran has been teaching piano for over 20 years. She began playing piano at the age of four learning it completely on her own. She received her intense musical training in California, where she participated and audited master classes at the California Institute of the Arts and the Colburn School of Performing Arts.

She has been traveling to India for several years to play the keyboard in an international orchestra playing Western Classical Music. This has been a joy for her. In July and November of 2010, she performed twice in southern India once as a pianist in an Orchestra and once as a vocalist in an International Choir.

T. Fran currently teaches private piano instruction for the Fine and Performing Community Arts Program at Friends School of Mullica Hill.
