
Update on the Head of School Search

Holiday greetings to the Friends School Mullica Hill Community! I am pleased to offer you this update on the state of our school's search for a new Head of School. The deadline for applications was reached on 15 November 2009, and we have received 30 complete applications (in addition to some inquiries and partial applications).

The applicants are impressive as a group, and they hail from eleven different states (plus one territory of the United States) and three foreign countries. They hold a wide range of notable positions currently. Some are or have been Heads of School; some are principals or leaders of academic divisions; some are leaders of administrative divisions in independent schools; some are or have been executive directors at non-profit companies; and many are former teachers.

The search committee is now busy determining which of these experienced and gifted applicants we wish to bring to campus for the final stage of interviewing. Please continue to monitor this page for updates as the process moves forward.

On behalf of the Head of School Search Committee,

William Carrigan
Assistant Clerk, Board of Trustees
